Casework

Spreading Their Wings For Success

Like a caterpillar settling into its cocoon, Lemon's Millwork in Albany closed its doors. Not long after, the shining butterfly called Cascade Casework Corp emerged. Same building. Same equipment. Some of the same 30-year plus employees of Lemon's, but with a new name, new ownership and all the energy, experience and enthusiasm to make the new venture soar to new heights.

Cascade Casework manufactures, designs and installs high-pressure laminate cabinetry exclusively for commercial, non-residential operations such as schools, hospitals and doctors' offices. Thanks to specialized manufacturing processes, colors can be customized and the resulting high-pressure laminate product is one-third stronger than industry standard low-pressure melamine.

With recent completed projects including Waldport High School and the third floor remodel at Albany General Hospital, Cascade Casework has just taken on its first large project out of state: Woodland High School in Washington. "It's time to branch out, time to grow," says Bill Yates, Corporate Secretary/Manager.

"We manufacture from high quality materials," he explains. "then we fine-tune the designs provided by the architect, build the cabinets and install them." Operating as a subcontractor within the construction industry, Cascade Casework seeks out and/or responds to bid requests as projects materialize throughout the area via centralized online project plan sites and established relationships with general contractors.

Due to the high stakes nature of construction bidding, they are particularly grateful for PayneWest's expert and timely assistance with insurance documents for contract bid work as well as performance and payment bonds. "Danielle Black is always Johnny-on-the-spot with everything we need; her professionalism and expertise are truly appreciated," says Bill.

While Cascade Casework has only been operating with its new name and ownership for one and a half years, it has already begun finding ways to contribute to the local community with in-kind projects for the YMCA and the Albany Boys and Girls Club, as well as gifts to churches. They are also proud to maintain all of their core business relationships for insurance and accounting in Albany.

Andy Tucknott

PayneWest Professional Joins Albany Team

“Educating our customers is our biggest job,” explains Andy Tucknott, Commercial Insurance Sales Executive at PayneWest’s Albany office. “Educating them on policy options, how the process works, and the best ways to protect against coverage gaps sets their minds at ease.”

Although “native” to PayneWest since 2006, Andy is a new transplant (January 2014) to Albany, bringing a welcome specialization for nonprofits and professional exposures such as accountants, doctors, attorneys, etc. He is the endorsed agent for the Montana Society of CPAs (MSCPA), possesses CRM certifications, all acronyms for specialty insurance education. He is eager to share his extensive experience with the Willamette community.

“Connecting personally with customers and being a resource for their business’ success is the most rewarding aspect of my job,” he says. “Because,” he continues, “we’re actually all quite similar, leading professional lives while committing time and energy to our families and communities.”

As the dust settles from their relocation, Andy and his wife and young son are looking forward to becoming involved in the local community. We are delighted to welcome Andy to the Albany team.

Employee of the quarter

Congratulations to Maryann Roth, South Shore Elementary School’s employee of the quarter. Maryann started working at the school as a volunteer and joined the South Shore family in 2000. She runs the teacher’s workroom, the cafeteria, mentors her colleagues, works as a special education assistant providing extra help for students and so much more. She is a woman of many talents and South Shore wouldn’t be the same with her working behind the scenes. Thank you, Maryann!
